"The Taliabo Story"

The Taliabo people live on a remote island in the country of Indonesia. For generations they searched for the key to eternal life, which they believed their ancestors took with them when they left the island.

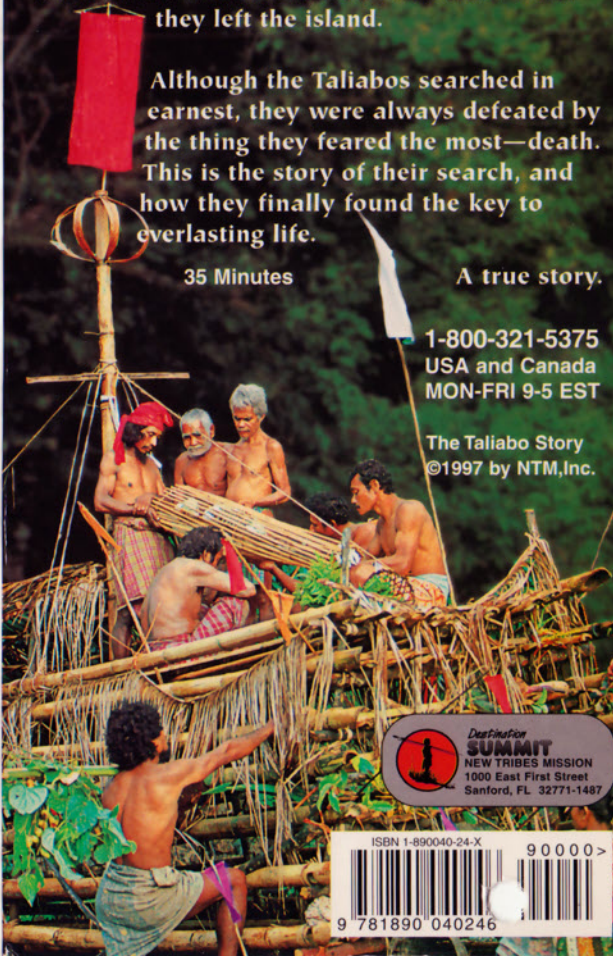

Although the Taliabos searched in earnest, they were always defeated by the thing they feared the most—death. This is the story of their search, and how they finally found the key to everlasting life.

VHS Video Jacket

The full color video jacket was designed and laid out in QuarkXpress with pictures photoshopped for effect. The tribesman was slightly overexposed and a lens flare added to the water in his hand to suggest the possibility of eternal life giving properties. The back cover had its green 'in focus' background blurred and value lowered to simulate a depth of field effect as well as to aid in the reading of the text placed upon it.
